

Pragati Public School a pioneering institution in South Rourkela situated in the outskirts of Rourkela Steel Plant. The school was started as a Nursery School in 1971 by Gopabandhu Pragati Parishad in its own building to cater to the needs of the residents of the Township and its periphery. Since then its strength has risen to more than 800 students. Today it runs classes from Nursery to Class X. we prepare our students with special emphasis on the good foundation for the future by our panel of experienced and caring staff members. The main motto of the school is to spread literacy in the Township and to lead the students as “go givers” rather than “go getters”.
